El Paseo Bank Promotes Beverly Jurgens to Chief Risk Management Officer

(Palm Desert —June, 2, 2009) El Paseo Bank recently promoted Beverly Jurgens to Chief Risk Management Officer. Jurgens still retains the title and responsibilities of Vice President of Compliance and Audit.

“Beverly has been a valuable team member whose commitment and detail to her job responsibilities and the bank has not been exceeded by anyone,” explains, El Paseo Chairman and CEO Andy Montgomery. “ Beverly will retain her current job responsibilities and function. This promotion makes her a valuable addition to the senior management team and expands the scope of her responsibilities,” Montgomery adds. Jurgens continues to evaluate a wide array of risks and opportunities as the bank continues to grow and expand its business offerings. “It doesn’t matter whether you are in the front lines or behind the scenes, taking care of the customer is still the key” says Jurgens. In addition to her ongoing responsibilities as Community Reinvestment Act officer, Security Officer, supervising central operations and a training coordinator, Jurgens becomes the bank’s Secrecy Act Officer. In essence as Montgomery states, “ Beverly is the bank’s police officer.”

With three branches in CA, and two in Utah, El Paseo Bank continues to be a well capitalized bank.
